What is the Mississippi Public Safety Summit?

The response to last year's inaugural Mississippi Public Safety Summit, bringing together 300 law enforcement officers, prosecutors, firefighters, first responders, and other workers who keep our people safe and our communities secure, was overwhelmingly positive. We expect that the buzz generated by last year's attendees will translate into an even bigger turnout this year.

Last year's Summit would not have been such a great success without the strong participation of sponsors who work with the public safety sector and know just how hard these public servants work to protect and secure our communities. We are grateful for the outstanding support we received.

This year, in order to ensure that every first responder who wants to attend has access to these important sessions and speakers, we intend to waive the registration fee for the Summit. Doing so without reducing the quality of the programming will require even stronger participation from sponsors like you.

This brochure will provide you with all the information you need to choose the sponsorship opportunities that best suit your company or organization's mission and budget, and we hope you will consider investing in this important Summit for Mississippi's brave and dedicated public safety sector workers. Every dollar raised goes directly to ensuring that attendees have the opportunity to network, learn from each other, and hear from speakers of national renown.

We appreciate your consideration and invite you to call or email Jenna Bass at (256) 654-1788 or jl Bass@dps.ms.gov if you have any questions.
